

SPORT MMA RULES

DESCRIPTION: Think of it as the equivalent of light contact version of MMA. A division where competitors can compete against each other utilizing most of the regular techniques associated with MMA including strikes, shoots, grappling and submissions. Only semi or light contact is allowed at all times at both stand up and ground positions.

Basically two competitors start from stand up position as is the case in semi & light contact, utilize their striking (stand up skills) to close the gap and create opportunity for a shoot or take down. Once on the ground the grappling comes into play together with semi/light contact striking. There are strict rules pertaining to legal and illegal techniques in strikes, grappling/Jiu-jitsu and submissions. The ultimate will always be to obtain a submission over your opponent.

EXPLAINING THE BEST OF THREE SUBMISSION RULE

If fighter "A" obtains a submission over fighter "B", it is recorded on the score sheet and the fight gets restarted from center stand up position. Fighter "B" must now obtain a submission over fighter "A" in order to level the field. Herein begins the chess game of SPORT MMA. Regardless of how good the rest of the fight is from fighter "B", even if he is the superior technical competitor, gains more points for striking or outclasses fighter "A" for the duration of the bout, fighter "A" will win the match should fighter "B" not obtain a submission over fighter "A". Two submissions over any fighter ends the bout immediately!

The final outcome of the fight is decided by (1) if there is a leader by submission (2) if there is no leader by submission the bout is decided by show of hand according to whom the Official sees to be the superior fighter.

The objective of the competition obviously becomes the balance between defending your position to minimize submission, and the timing of your offense in order to create opportunities to submit your opponent. The game changes as the bout continues. If you are submitted, it becomes critical to regain neutral position by submitting your opponent thereby being able to continue your plan of attack. Likewise if you gain submission first, you can concentrate more on defense, technique and ring craft to keep your opponent at bay utilizing your stand up striking skills but without "spoiling the fight". This way students have to become skilled at all levels and cannot rely only on one particular strength to win each bout. Just like the real thing but without the concussion and unwanted facial alterations.

As a fight, it has all the requirements of a MMA bout but without the risk of serious injury. It does not guarantee no injury! It still remains very tough, challenging and extremely physical. Clashes will still occur by accident and blood might still be drawn without malicious intent. There is a demand for these divisions and as advocates for non full contact with juniors we feel that these divisions give everyone the opportunity to experience the thrill of MMA knowing it's going to still be tough, that you still have to prepare as if going into a full contact fight but with the knowledge that your organization, instructors and officials have your safety and best interest at heart. More importantly, can you imagine the skill and experience obtained throughout your youth competing in these divisions in preparation for one day competing in MMA.

rules are made and enforced so no one competitor has an advantage or disadvantage over another competitor. Therefore, coaching is allowed but only under the following guidelines:

Never, at any time, can a coach enter the ring without the referee's permission, 2. No abusive, violent, unsportsmanlike or overzealous coaching; 3. Coaches cannot ask for a time out (only the competitor may ask for a time out), 4. Coaches can never, at any time, interfere with the proper running of the ring or the decisions of the judges. A Coach is defined as anyone who is trying to help one competitor in anyway. A coach could be but is not limited to a friend, parent, team mate or official coach. The center referee can issue a warning to a competitor for each time his/her coach is interfering with a match or disrupting fair play between contestants.

Weight Divisions and Age Bracketing:

All competitors will be matched according to their weight. We do our best to match competitors by weight. A duplicated bracket will be created if we have a minimum of at least two (2) competitor in the same age bracket. The division will be split/separated with placing and points awarded to both. If we cannot create a new bracket to accommodate the competitor, he/she will have no choice but to fight in that weight division. (See division codes below)

PLEASE NOTE – Due to point tabulations and rankings for the State Finals, all divisions are set, and a competitor cannot be moved to another division. Only splitting a division is allowed when a competitor is out of their age of at least two (2) years.

If there is no one in your division, you will win by default, and an exhibition match will be offered.
